Jeroen Raskin is a corporate/M&A partner of Monard Law, specializing in M&A, corporate finance and general corporate law. Monard Law is a full-service Belgian law firm with over 120 lawyers. The scope of his expertise includes handling many national and crossborder transactions, joint ventures for both industrial parties as well as for private equity or venture capital funds, and particular expertise developed in the financial regulated sector and the IT and Telecom sector. He also represents a number of family businesses and assist international shareholders and directors with their corporate governance issues.

Furthermore, He specializes in corporate and financial litigation. He assists domestic and international clients in M&A litigation, directors liability and conflicts between shareholders. As a financial litigator, He represents both financial institutions and investors.

Clients view him as an experienced, client focused and service oriented lawyer with practical solutions to issues.

High quality advice, common sense and business acumen are key values for our team at Monard, resulting in solution-driven trusted advice for our clients. We have a young and dynamic team that approaches legal obstacles as challenges to find the best solution for our entrepreneurial clients.

Apart from a law degree (Catholic University of Leuven, 2004), he obtained a DES degree in Economic Law (specializing in Company Law) at the ULB in Brussels and also completed a Postgraduate degree in Corporate Finance (Leuven School of Business and Economics, 2009).
